Sharemarket Commentary

Global equity markets fell heavily in October as the Federal Reserve continued to raise US interest rates during the month, while uncertainty surrounding Trump's trade tariffs caused fear over global growth going forward. The continued Brexit saga and concerns over Italy's new budget breaching EU guidelines did little to help investors' nerves. As a result, the MSCI World index finished -7% lower as the S&P500 fell -7% for the month erasing all gains made since the start of 2018. The tech heavy NASDAQ index fell -9% as many of the tech darlings, trading on lofty valuations, led the wider market lower due to a much needed correction. Over the month, the US Federal Reserve signaled its willingness to continue raising interest rates in an effort to limit any overheating in the US economy. Over the month the US 10-year bond yield rose to a 7-year high of 3.2% due to the US economy's strength and the impact of Trump's policies on the ballooning US Budget deficit.

In line with global markets, the Australian market experienced a difficult month falling -6.2% wiping out all gains made this calendar year, with all sectors finishing firmly lower. Similarly, the Fund's ex-50 index also fell heavily to finish the month down -8.9%. Aside from Utilities which registered a small gain of +1.95%, no sector was immune from the selling with the ex-50 Resources down -6.4% and Industrials down -9.5%. The Energy sector fell -11% on a weaker oil price, while the Materials sector fared slightly better shedding -6.7%, benefiting from the relative strength of gold stocks which were helped by a higher gold price.

The worst performing sector was the IT sector which fell -14.1% as many high flying stocks such as Afterpay and Wisetech fell over -25%. We have been very cautious on these stocks for a long time, with investors having bid valuations up aggressively without regard to their fundamentals. The Consumer Discretionary sector was also weak falling -8.6% with many retailers, such as Supercheap and Lovisa, warning of tougher trading conditions at their AGM's. Financials fell 9.8% as fund managers such as Pinnacle and Perpetual - whose earnings are highly dependent on the stockmarket's level - fell -30% and -18% respectively.

In a challenging month, the IML Future Leaders Fund finished the month -6.6% lower, which whilst disappointing was ahead of the benchmark's fall of -8.9%. While many stocks held in the portfolio fell heavily over the month, we remain comfortable with the fundamentals of the companies held by our Fund and our Fund's positioning.

GWA fell heavily on fears around softer new housing approvals – however given the majority of its business comes from the renovation market, we believe that GWA – which is debt-free – looks good value trading on a PE of 14x and a yield of 6%. Clydesdale Bank fell on Brexit fears though we remain positive on its long-term prospects due to the company's recent acquisition of Virgin Money and the company's recent advanced accreditation which frees up significant capital to fund future growth, or a return to shareholders. Following a disappointing trading update by Domain, Fairfax's share price fell, with the negative sentiment also flowing through to our other media holdings Here, There & Everywhere and Southern Cross Media despite Southern Cross announcing continued revenue growth at its recent AGM, while costs remain well contained. We used weakness throughout the month to deploy our cash holdings selectively, topping up our positions in GWA and Southern Cross Media and similar good quality companies that we believe are well positioned to grow their earnings and dividends in the years ahead.

While the significant increase in volatility and pull back in global sharemarkets was well overdue, it has to be kept in perspective of the strong rises many markets have recorded in recent years. With US interest rates set to increase further in the near future and with an election due in Australia in the next 6 months, we remain cautious and would not be surprised to see further volatility in the months ahead. We continue to remain vigilant continuing to use weakness in the share prices of good quality industrial companies to put some of the Fund's cash holding to work.
